The Washington Star
Portfolio
• Amusements • Classified
• Comics
SECTION D
THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1978

Commentary

Frank Snepp (former employee of the CIA, on "Firing Line"): "I think that if Nixon had remained in the saddle and there had been no Watergate, the North Vietnamese would have thought twice before preparing for a final offensive against the city. They would have been far more circumspect in approaching their stragetic objective — the capture of Saigon."